

for maha's shane delia, coming from a large maltese family means dining is more than a meal, it is a way of life. the delia family crest 'fortis et hospitalis' or 'strength in hospitality', originates from his ancestors' dedication to celebrating a loving community of friends and family, which shane has passionately continued at maha.

we offer an extensive australian and international wine list, compiled after thorough research (and drinking!) by our sommeliers. from the well known, to the boutique, from the bekaa valley in lebanon and galilee in israel to the old world wines of france and italy; our wine list is ever evolving as we strive to bring you the best wines to complement maha's cuisine. we invite you to ask our sommeliers to recommend their latest discovery.

the full dining experience involves more than just wine. arak or raki is traditionally drunk with mezze. an anise flavoured middle eastern spirit, often referred to as 'lion's milk', not only because it turns cloudy when water is added, but because it takes the heart of a lion to drink it. maha has a broad range of arak and raki to discover and enjoy.

our cocktail list is inspired and unique, showcasing middle eastern liqueurs in a delight for the senses. enquire about our cocktail of the week as our beverage team work their magic with the exotic ingredients maha has to offer.

what better way to finish your maha experience than with a dark sweet turkish coffee or our house blend of moroccan mint tea whilst smoking a shisha in our relaxing courtyard.

spoilt for choice? challenge our beverage team to come up with the right drink for the right occasion.

raki and arak play a major part in middle eastern culture. it is a drink similar to ouzo from greece and pastis from france and is ideal as an aperitif. however, throughout the levant it is traditionally drank while grazing on mezze dishes as the anise complements the salts and spices beautifully. so why not sample some 'lions milk' from a selection we have chosen that best represents the diversities of this noble drink.
